

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN. Published daily (Sundays excepted) by the NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PRINTING COMPANY, AT 1208 and 1212 Pennsylvania avenue.

TERMS: One copy one year $10.00. One copy one month $1.00. Single copies 5 cents. Address NATIONAL REPUBLICAN, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C., OCTOBER 27, 1881. Population of the National Capital... $10,000. Amusements to-night. NATIONAL THEATRE—Knox vs. Hamilton.

The National Republican will be issued on Saturday in a double-sheet form of eight pages and fifty-six columns. The pressure of advertisements and the unprecedented increase in the circulation of the Stalwart Republican is so great that it is not unlikely the management will soon find it necessary to issue double sheets on Wednesdays as well as Saturdays.

American Control of American Interests. The London Times is, of course, unable to see why our Government should presume to claim any individual interest in protecting the neutrality of the government through the domain of which an interested canal may be cut.

Then next we would advise you that the next real promises of those who have no natural reason for desiring you to succeed. Do not seek introductions to strangers and at once proceed to make them your agents or the step-ladders by which you can reach the ear of power.

We are very willing to exchange kind words with the English government on all suitable occasions. We believe in the sincerity of her friendship when it is for her interest to be friendly, and we believe in the implacability of her hostility when she can successfully direct it against the Great Republic.

Changes and Repairs that are Being Made. Extensive changes are being made in the interior arrangements of the White House. Hereafter the army and navy will be quartered in the rooms of the President's private office and filled the corridors and halls.

Don't go to the President, unless it be for a ceremonial call, and then be introduced by a proper person well known. Withdraw as soon as your Chief Magistrate has at a glance taken in your fine personal appearance and heard the musical tones of your voice.

desires to remain that the air is filled with his passionate plaints. Being comparatively free from the office-seeking malady, never having sought an office by appointment, though long in office by the grace of others, and having been in active politics long enough to have observed the various manifestations of the ill referred to, we feel constrained to give a few hints, which may be useful to some of the innumerable caravan which moves toward the public crib.

The first and most important point is to beware of overestimating your own importance, or the interest you have excited in others. The enthusiastic young man who was a delegate in a county convention which nominated a member of the Legislature who voted for Mr. Forgett for the United States Senate does not reflect upon how many county conventions there were in his State, how many delegates there were in each convention, and how small after all was his real contribution toward the election of the Senator. The Son of Thunder who created up and down the land and delighted the boys and fascinated the girls with his historical predictions of disaster if defeat should come upon us does not always realize that he was but a single sand upon the seashore of electionary fury.

The "old member," long since unseated, cannot realize why he is less sought than when he was on the committee on claims or appropriations. And so to the end of the chapter each seeker for place is apt to exaggerate his natural likelihood of success, and to take too short a step in his effort to span the gulf which separates him from the goal of his ambition. Beware, therefore, of your own egotism.

Young James Garfield, who has returned to his class at Williams College, is again very ill with malaria. It is feared that his illness will be fatal. He is now at the Hotel Metropole in the city stopping at the Metropolitan.

Colonel E. P. Wilson, of Cincinnati, gave a lecture on the management of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, in the city stopping at the Metropolitan.

Mr. Anna Dickinson is really determined to play Hamlet there is only one way the men can get even. Let Lawrence Barrett begin studying that part of Juliet at once.

Herbert is writing a life of William Penn. We shall see if he can resist the temptation to begin his biography in the good old way—"I take my Pen in hand."

Miss Lotta and Mr. Edwin Booth are said to be the richest representatives of the dramatic profession. The former is worth half a million, and the latter estimates his wealth at $500,000. Mr. Joseph Jefferson has died on the 1st, and Mr. John DeWolf has died on the 23rd of the past three years.

COMMISSIONER OF PATENTS MARBLE III, but not seriously. Miss Clara Barton is in the city, a guest of Mrs. Gould, on I street.

JUDGE SHANNON, the chief justice of the court, is in the city for a brief visit.

GENERAL FRANCIS WALKER has left for Philadelphia to be absent two or three days.

GOVERNOR FOSTER, of Ohio, was at the Treasury Department yesterday. He will remain in the city but a day or two.

SENATOR SHARON, who has been ill for a fortnight at San Francisco, is recovering and will soon go to his country seat at Belmont.

M. KRISER RENAN is staying in Rome, where he is receiving visits from all the principal men of letters and other notable personages in that city.

RETURNS from all but two counties in Iowa give the Hon. Buren B. Sherman, Republican, for Governor the comfortable majority of 56,765 votes.

GOVERNOR LUKE BLACKBURN, of Kentucky, says that the drought has hurt his crops. He says that Senator Bell will surely be re-elected.

MRS. SPOFFORD, of the Riggs House, is not expected to return in some weeks. She left Hampton, Maine, the family homestead, on the Penobscot River.

COLONEL E. P. WILSON, of Cincinnati, gave a lecture on the management of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, in the city stopping at the Metropolitan.
